

IDECard WebToPrint

Webbased order platform for identity cards

With the new order platform IDECard WebToPrint the customer can manage as many as desired company-specific identity card layouts and register its employee identity cards comfortably via web interface. After online release of the new employee identity card by the customer, the order is directly sent to IDENTA. Due to the online order, the company identity cards are produced by IDENTA and forwarded directly to the customer.

FUNCTIONS AND FIELDS OF APPLICATIONS

- The access to the web interface is made by a certificate-encoded SSL connection, which is possible with each PC with internet access. The access certificate is placed on a chip card by IDENTA. Without this access certificate, for safety reasons, an access to the identity card data is not possible.
- The mandate layouts for the customer are created by IDENTA in the IDECard software. The individual personalization is done by the customer.

- Management of as many as desired mandate identity card layouts, selection of the desired identity card layout.
- The data collection of the employee photos is made by each standard commercial PC camera or in all usual display formats directly from a stored image file.
- Data collection of the personnel data
- Management of the registered personnel master data.
- Online order of several released identity cards for production at IDENTA.

BENEFITS

- Expenditures for the maintenance of the identity card printers as well as corresponding consumable supplies are saved at the customer.
- On the web interface the customer can check the finished identity card in the preview and then place his order with a simple mouse click. As many as desired identity cards can be collected for an order.
- Possible cancellation of the production order by the customer.

- Uncomplicated online repeat order of lost and new identity cards
- The amount of the identity cards produced at IDENTA is subtracted automatically from the contingent of the blanket order. Besides this, the contingent will be online updated simultaneously, i.e. can be viewed at any time by the customer, (monitoring of the production status by the customer).
